

Captain Clumsy

By Eva Smith and illustrations by Mia Banks

On a clear day like no other, Captain Clumsy was soaring through the sky – his cape billowing in the wind.

When suddenly, the siren (belonging to the bank) wailed deafeningly. “Argh! He’s got me! Help!” screeched a young, beautiful

HELP!

“Do not fear, Captain Clumsy is here!” he bellowed as he raced to save the poor damsel in distress. For some reason he clambered into a dump truck.

With a reeking, mouldy banana peel sliding down his face that blinded him from vision, he accidentally ran over an old lady with a walking stick.

“AARRRRRGGGGHHHHHHH!
YOU FOOL! WHAT ARE YOU DOING?!” yelled the ancient widow, who was sprawled across the sidewalk. “Sorry fair citizen, I will leave you to the care of the paramedics.”

Racing at the speed of light, he eventually caught up with the kidnapper/ bank robber.
Bellowing at the top of her lungs for help, the poor maiden was thrust into a van.

To be continued...

DUH, DUH, DUUUUUHHHHH!